State auditor-A. C. Daily of Boon county. The rules "of the Fifty-first Congress, as adopted and applied by Thomas B. Reed and lately indorsed by the present Congress," were adopted. Ex-President Harrison said in the course of his remarks:

"Our friends may endeavor to persuade the American people that this period of depression is only one of those periodic panics that they say at intervals, more or less Funeral services were held over the remains of the late Daniel Barron at the Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday at 8:30 o'clock p.m., Rev. Mr. Dorsey, pastor, officiating. A large number of friends of the decreased were present. The pall-heavers those who are educated and instructed by facts rather than given to refined theories—has settled upon the cause of this present disastrous depression. They find that cause in the attempt to wipe out the protection idea and to submit the doctrines of a revenue tariff. They find it in that uncertainty which has intruded itself into every man's business enterprises, which has paralyzed his energies and which has compelled the wheels to stop while this great issue was being concluded. The American workman is realizing today that it is not possible for him to separate himself in interest from the manufacturer who employs him; that he cannot listen to the wild and vicious appeals which have been made to him, strike at the men who give employment to labor, at the men who give employment to labor, without bringing the blow back in recoil upon himself and upon his family. (Ap "The times are full of unrest, disaster and apprehension. I believe today that all the tumult of this wild sea would be stilled the tumult of this wild sea would be stilled as by the voice of omnipotence if the great industrial and commercial classes of this country could know today that there would be no attempt to strike down protection in American legislation. The trouble upon this question has been that some of our western friends would not re-ceive any man as the friend of silver who believed that we could not coin it freely and maintain its parity with gold by com-and maintain its parity with gold by coming into an arrangement with the other great commercial nations of the world.

They should have been more liberal. I believe today that we can see in England, the nation that has stood most strongly against the larger use of silver, and in Germany, a nation that has followed England, the clear indications of the growth of a senthe fire in the house before it had done much damage. Mrs. McMillian was attended by Dr. Lee, who expressed the opinion that she would recover, although her injuries were of a serious nature.

The Hyattsville Progressive Euchre Club met last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robinson. The following players were present and participated in the games: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Boykin, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. White, Dr. and Mrs. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Latimer. Supper was served after the playing. The first and

When a man has honorably, earnestly, by appeal to his friends robated if he carries his grievance home with him and deserts his party. So, in advance, I appeal to this large body who are to be disappointed today to put themselves at the front in cheering for their more fortunate comparities. tunate competitors."

SHOT BY A PRIEST.

A Cincinnati Girl Killed by a Man Believed to Be Mad.

Mary Gilmartin, a clerk employed by the Pulvermacher Belt Company, at Cincinnati, was shot and killed yesterday while on her way to work. The murderer gave the name of George Reed, but letters found on him prove him to be Father Dominick O'Grady, a Catholic priest, who came from Ireland three months ago. Miss Gilmartin is from Sligo county, Ireland. One of her brothers is Father M. S. Gilmartin of Chicago.

Miss Gilmartin met O'Grady in Ireland, where his attentions caused gossip. Last September she came to America, and has been in Cincinnati since January 10. The girl had got on a street car to go to her work, but in some mysterious manner got off again and was shot almost before her door. O'Grady took arsenic, but it did not kill him. He confessed the murder. Among his letters was one written by Miss Gil-martin to the archbishop in Ireland, excul-pating O'Grady from any wrong-doing with Miss Gilmartin's brother in Chicago, Rev.

The men of the family are all religiously inclined. One of her brothers is professor of ecclesiastical history in the theological seminary at Maynoth, Ireland, where Architecture Post Maynoth, Irela seminary at Maynoth, Ireland, where Archbishop Feehan first entered on his church career. Another brother is a student in the theological seminary at Baltimore. Father Walsh of the Holy Angels' Church said that the Gilmartins were among the most respected of the Irish clergy in Ireland. Miss Gilmartin was a very pretty girl of twenty. She was educated in a convent in Ireland, and was in every way an accomplished young lady. It is believed by her friends that O'Grady is nothing more or less than a madman.

Both the priest and the girl were residents of Sligo county, Ireland. The girl was sent to college at Waymouth. There the young to college at Waymouth. There the young priest, Dominick O'Grady, paid attentions to her. The girl's mother died, leaving her daughter in charge of the young priest. Miss Gilmartin came to America. O'Grady followed. They traveled as man and wife. Went to Chicago, where Miss Gilmartin's brother. Father Gilmartin, has a parish. O'Grady was deposed by his bishop. He wanted Miss Gilmartin to exonerate him, and on his person was found a letter from and on his person was found a letter from her to the bishop, saying it was not true that the priest and she left Ireland together. that the priest and she left Ireland together. Among the letters from her to him was one assuring him that she did not care for Posley; that she loved him, O'Grady, alone, and would marry him in two years. He haunted her; took a room across the street and watched her movements. She tried to avoid him, but yesterday asked Mrs. Libles to go with her, as she feared O'Grady. When she took a car, Mrs. Libbles returned, but had not been home long before the tragedy occurred. The priest boarded the car and the girl left it. He followed her, seized her by the hair and fired at her head. After she fell, he fired the remaining balls at her and fell, he fired the remaining balls at her and then ran. His effort to poison himself was
